The driver said to her friend, "You know what is weird, my wife doesn't care about her kids like I do." To me that was the most sad sentence I've ever heard. What kind of parent just lets their child cry and act like a baby for two hours? I think we should all be allowed to let our children scream and cry and it's ok to say, "Baby, it's ok," at times, but as long as we can say, "It's ok to stop crying now" with a genuine smile, this parent was lying. She's probably trying to be nice. I think the truth is she's incredibly selfish and doesn't care what her kids are thinking or feeling. There's a time and place 2d92ce491b
