As this post says the serial key is valid. It's in a bittorrent.pdf file at the end. You could open that up or convert it to.rar. Q: Import a jar into JAR file I have a file called F.java, in a folder inside my JAR file. I would like to import F.java into my program, to be able to access that class. This seems to be possible through org.objectweb.asm.ClassReader, but all the examples I can find in the Internet are of much more complicated situations than this. Is it possible to simply import F.java into my program inside the JAR, like I would normally do using java -cp my-program.jar F.java? A: You can simply load your F.java like this `ClassLoader classLoader = getClass().getClassLoader(); URL f = classLoader.getResource("F.class"); InputStream is = f.openStream();` this will load your file F.class and return it as an input stream. Q: Is a subalgebra of matrix algebra a subspace of matrix algebra? Is a subalgebra of matrix algebra a subspace of matrix algebra? For example,  $\mathbb{R}_n$  is a subalgebra of  $\mathbb{M}_n$ , which is a subspace of  $\mathbb{M}_{n^2}$ , but isn't  $\mathbb{M}_{n^2}$  also a subspace of  $\mathbb{M}_{n^2}$ ? A: It's important to note that in general subspaces are not algebras. For example, the linear space  $\mathbb{R}^2$  is a vector space, but the subspace  $\mathbb{R} \subset \mathbb{R}^2$  has no  $\mathbb{R}$ -module structure. A subalgebra of a matrix algebra is a matrix algebra as a vector space, so subspaces of a matrix algebra are also matrix algebras. But matrix algebras as a vector space is different from matrix algebras as a vector space.
