Q: Add event handler to dynamically added controls I'm trying to add a click event handler to a specific control that I add dynamically to an asp:Panel. The code is: protected void Page_Load(object sender, EventArgs e) { Button btn = new Button(); btn.ID = "Add"; btn.Attributes.Add("onclick", "addCustomControl('" + txtName.Text +
"')"); Panel1.Controls.Add(btn); } public void addCustomControl(string name) { Label lbl = new Label(); lbl.Text = name; Panel1.Controls.Add(lbl); } The problem is that the click event handler is never called. Why isn't it working? A: @TQN's answer is probably correct, but I'd like to add another note: since you're loading a custom control dynamically, you need to look into the properties of that control for other events that you can handle. For example, the CustomControl class should have an event handler for OnClick, just like the standard ASP.NET control. See this article for more info. A: You've probably tried it with and without the brackets around that method.
Try this: Button btn = new Button(); btn.ID = "Add"; btn.Attributes.Add("onclick", "addCustomControl('" + txtName.Text + "')"); Panel1.Controls.Add(btn); Also, I think you're going to run into trouble if you try to use Add with a method that isn't part of the Page class. Since you are creating a custom control that you are not initializing.
